

About the Authors

Special Issue on Duterte
December 2018

Bro. Karl Gaspar is one of the most published scholars in the country, with at least 20 books to his name since 1985. He was formerly Academic Dean of the St. Alphonsus Theological and Mission Institute (SATMI) in Davao City and a professor of Anthropology at the Ateneo de Davao University. The Ateneo de Manila University conferred on Gaspar the Parangal Lingkod Sambayanan, describing him as a “champion of the Indigenous People’s rights.”

Benjiemen Aban Labastin is an Associate Professor of Philosophy and the Director of Research and Publications at La Salle University, Ozamiz City. Currently, he is taking his Doctorate in Philosophy at the University of San Carlos, Cebu City. He obtained his MA Philosophy in the same university and his AB Philosophy at the Our Lady of the Angels Franciscan College Seminary, Novaliches, Quezon City. He has been an environmental and political activist. His research interests focus on: Critical Theory, Political Philosophy, Postmodern Philosophy, Filipino Philosophy and Philippine Democracy. He is writing a dissertation on Filipino Philosophy and Philippine Democracy.

Rhoderick John S. Abellanosa is currently connected with Sacred Heart School - Ateneo de Cebu as Faculty Development Officer and Cluster Head for the Humanities and Social Sciences. He has Master's degrees in Political Science and Philosophy from the University of San Carlos. He also studied Theology in the Seminario Mayor de San Carlos. He was a Graduate Research Fellow of the National University of Singapore's Asia Research Institute. His areas of interest are in Politics and Religion, Church and State Relations, and Political Theory.

Regletto Aldrich D. Imbong is an assistant professor of philosophy of the University of the Philippines Cebu. He finished his AB and MA in Philosophy in the University of San Carlos and is currently writing his dissertation for his Doctorate in Philosophy in the same university. His research interests include: Alain Badiou, political philosophy, neoliberalism, peace studies, and emancipatory politics. He is a member of the national core group of the Philippine Ecumenical Peace Platform, an ecumenical peace network that supports the peace processes between the Government of the Republic of the Philippines (GRP) and the National Democratic Front of the Philippines (NDFP).

Ruben O. Balotol Jr. is a Philosophy and Social Science instructor at the Visayas State University Main Campus in Baybay City, Leyte. He is currently taking his Master’s Degree in Philosophy at the University of San Carlos in Cebu City. His research interests are in the area of Socio-Political Philosophy and Philippine Studies.

Alexis Deodato S. Itao teaches full-time at the Cebu Normal University and part-time at the Rogationist Seminary College-Cebu. Presently continuing his Ph.D. in Philosophy at the University of San Carlos (Cebu City), he obtained his M.A. Philosophy from the same university and graduated A.B. Philosophy cum laude from Saint Peter College Seminary

(Butuan City). He studied Theology for a brief period at the Pontifical Lateran University in Rome, Italy and also completed a one-year Formation Course in Family and Intercultural Empowerment at the Loreto School for Families in Florence, Italy. Prof. Itao has published scholarly articles in international refereed journals.

Noe M. Santillan is an Assistant Professor of Philosophy and Social Studies in the University of the Philippines Cebu. He earned his baccalaureate degree in Arts major in philosophy from San Carlos Seminary College, and his Master's in Education major in Social Studies from UP Professional Schools as UP Presidential Scholar. He is the spokesperson of Movement Against Tyranny - Cebu. Also, he's a volunteer for the Cebu Archdiocesan Commission on Social Advocacies, and the Save Our Schools Network.

Menelito P. Mansueto has taken doctoral units under the academic program PhD in Media Studies at the College of Mass Communications, University of the Philippines–Diliman. He obtained his Master of Arts in Philosophy, as well as his Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy from Holy Name University, Tagbilaran City. He has taught philosophy and social sciences subjects at FEU-Diliman and UST-España. He is currently a full-time assistant professor at Colegio de San Juan de Letran.

Jeresa May C. Ochave completed her Master of Public Administration, major in Public Policy at the Ateneo de Davao University. She completed her Bachelor of Arts in Mass Communication in the same university. She was a former researcher and communications director of Centrist Democracy Political Institute, a non-government organization. She also served as the former national publicity director for the Young Centrists Union. She is working for a local government unit in Mindanao.

Allen Gumiran, Ian Pura, Dean Baylon, Lemuel Ongpico, Patrick Corrales, Millard Ebreo, Ivan Santos, Zephres Badilla, Lexus Bayalan and Dondie Capellan are undergraduates of the Lasallian University System. With the exemption of Dean Baylon, who is taking up Consular and Diplomatic Affairs at College of Saint-Benilde, all of the authors are B.A. Political Science undergraduates from De La Salle University-Dasmaringas. Their interests range from politics, international relations, literary theory, continental philosophy, art, film and music. Their views wildly vary, from statism to anarchism though they are united in their common outlook of critiquing Philippine society and culture from within.

Dr. Rogelio Bayod teaches in the graduate and undergraduate programs at Cor Jesu College in Digos City. He is also the director of student services in the same institution. He finished his Doctorate degree in Educational Administration at the University of Southeastern Philippines in Davao City. He is the president-elect of the Philippine Association of Campus Student Advisers Association (PACSA).