

Enrique Benjamin R. Fernando III graduated Magna Cum Laude from Ateneo De Manila University in 2015—double major in BS Management Engineering and AB Philosophy, and double minor in History and Human Resource Management. He also graduated as Class Valedictorian from Ateneo High School Batch 2010. He is currently enrolled in the MA Philosophy program in the University of the Philippines Diliman, completing his thesis on Ronald Dworkin’s Theory of Adjudication and Joseph Raz’s Exclusive Legal Positivism. His research interests include Philosophy of Law, Political Philosophy, and Philosophy of Language. He works as a full-time professional on corporate data analytics.

Mr. Oscar D. Sison Jr. is an Associate Professor of Saint Louis University, Baguio City, where he teaches philosophy in both the undergraduate and graduate levels. His main research interest is environmental philosophy, in particular, Deep Ecology and Ecophenomenology. Mr. Sison also participates in local conservation efforts and climate consciousness activities, and is currently writing his dissertation on ecological consciousness at De La Salle University, Manila.

Fritz Geraldine Y. Fernandez is a Senior High School student at Visayas State University Integrated High School. As a requirement in her research subject, she has worked on a study concerning the role of Reforestation adoption on sustainable development from the lens of the officers of a people’s organization in an island municipality. She has been closely monitored and mentored by her thesis adviser, Dr. Guiraldo C. Fernandez, Jr. of the same university. Dr. Fernandez is the project leader of a university-sanctioned research on the social impacts of the Ridge to Reef conservation efforts in Pilar, Camotes Island, Cebu.

Dr. Rogelio P. Bayod is presently pursuing a Doctor of Philosophy in Bioethics, Sustainability and Global Health in American University of Sovereign Nations (AUSN). He teaches ethics and religious studies in the undergraduate, and development and management courses in the graduate level at Cor Jesu College in Digos City. He holds a degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Development Administration from the University of Southeastern Philippines. He is the current president of the Philippine Association of Campus Student Advisers (PACSA) and a former Director of Student Affairs and Services at Cor Jesu College.

Danilo Keh, Jr. graduated Magna Cum Laude in Christ the King Mission Seminary School with the degree Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy in 2011. He finished the degree Master of Arts in Education major in Religious Studies in the University of Santo Tomas-Legazpi where he is also taking up his Doctorate Degree in Development Education. At present, he is a senior high school teacher in Philippine School Doha.