

About the Authors

Joshua Miguel C. Sanchez is a graduate student from the Department of Philosophy at De La Salle University-Manila. His research interests are inclined towards Asian, Continental, and Feminist Philosophy as well as Gender and Queer Studies where he focuses on Intersectionality, popular media representations, queer love, and epistemic injustice. At present, he is working on his thesis about Confucianism's Filial Piety and Obligations. He loves to engage with Asian popular culture and is a proud K-Pop stan.

Dennis N. Tion, M.A. is a professor under the Religion Department in Saint Louis University, Baguio City, Philippines. He finished his Bachelor's degree in Philosophy and Master's degree in Religious Studies in 2006 and 2013 under the same university, respectively. He is currently under the PhD program of Philosophy in Saint Louis University. He has presented papers as a parallel speaker in both local and national conferences and co-authored a textbook for senior high school students.

Blaise D. Ringor, M.A. is currently teaching at the University of Santo Tomas, Manila. He earned his Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy from the Immaculate Conception Major Seminary, Guiguinto, Bulacan. He finished his Master of Arts in Philosophy at the Graduate School of Philosophy, University of Santo Tomas, Manila where he is also pursuing his Ph.D. in Philosophy.

Ian Clark R. Parcon, PhD is an Assistant Professor in Philosophy at Ateneo de Davao University, Davao City, Philippines. He finished his doctorate in Philosophy at Ateneo de Manila University. He has a Master of Arts degree in Applied Ethics from the Norwegian University of Science and Technology, Norway and Linköping University, Sweden. His research interests and engagements include Feminism, Multiculturalism, Environmental Politics, Political Theory, and Democratic Theory.

Leni dLR. Garcia, PhD is a Full Professor at the Department of Philosophy, De La Salle University (DLSU). She serves as the Associate Provost of DLSU and concurrently as the Director of the Lasallian Core Curriculum Program. She initiated the annual DLSU Arts Congress in 2007 and served as its convenor for several years. She is a UBCHEA-Asian Interfaith Dialogue Network Fellow, Catholic University of America's Council for Research in Values and Philosophy Fellow, and a MASHAV Scholar. She researches on non-Western philosophies, and alternative ontologies, epistemologies, and aesthetics.

Hazel T. Biana, PhD is a Professor of Philosophy at De La Salle University-Manila, and a Research Fellow of the DLSU-Southeast Asia Research Center and Hub (DLSU-SEARCH) and the Social Development Research Center (SDRC). She is the current Vice President of the Philosophical Association of the Philippines (PAP). Aside from being a recipient of a Hypatia Diversity Project Grant last 2021, she recently completed a research grant on Feminist Artificial Intelligence from the Center for Science, Technology and Society, Chulalongkorn University-Thailand. Her research interests include interdisciplinary topics on intersectionality, feminist philosophy, gender studies, cultural criticism, and the philosophy of place.

Jeremiah Joven B. Joaquin, PhD is a Professor of Philosophy at De La Salle University, Manila, Philippines, where he is also a Research Fellow at the Southeast Asian Research Center and Hub and a Research Affiliate at the Jesse Robredo Institute for Governance. He has published many academic outputs both nationally and internationally. He specializes in logic and metaphysics, and also works on epistemology, philosophy of mind, philosophy of language, philosophy of religion, moral philosophy, experimental philosophy, political philosophy, and philosophical issues in public health and gender studies. He is the present President of the Philosophical Association of the Philippines, the founding Secretary-General (and former Summit Chair) of the Union of Societies and Associations of Philosophy in the Philippines. He is a member of the Australasian Association of Philosophy, the Australasian Association for Logic, the Association for Symbolic Logic, the Arthur N. Prior Studies Virtual Lab, and the Sydney School of Realist Mathematics.