

About the Authors

Anton Heinrich L. Rennesland, Ph.D., is a faculty member of the UST Department of Philosophy of the Faculty of Arts and Letters and of the Ecclesiastical Faculty of Philosophy. Besides teaching, he is the director of the Research Center of Culture, Arts, and the Humanities (RCCAH) and is one of the managing editors of Kritike: An Online Journal of Philosophy <<https://www.kritike.org/>>. His current research engagements are (1) providing a critique of Filipino culture from the vantage of everyday life, (2) elucidating Nietzsche's philosophy, with particular emphasis on archipelagic thinking vis-à-vis Philippine society, and (3) an inquiry into the atmospheres of spatial intersections in architectural and lived designs. His publication list ranges from articles in various journals and book chapters with Routledge and Cambridge Scholars on his fields of interest: Friedrich Nietzsche, Peter Sloterdijk, Philosophy of the City and Urbanism, Filipino Philosophy, and Comparative/Multicultural Philosophy.

Joseph Martin M. Jose, Ph.D., is an Assistant Professorial Lecturer at the Department of Philosophy, De La Salle University - Manila. He obtained his bachelor's (summa cum laude), masteral, and doctoral degrees in philosophy from the same university. His dissertation on the Aristotelian approach to social media friendship was awarded Outstanding Dissertation. He has published research articles in both local and Scopus-indexed international journals. His recent publications are book chapters in AI Ethics Primer for Filipinos (2025), Philosophies of Appropriated Religions: Perspectives from Southeast Asia (2023), and Love and Friendship Across Cultures: Perspectives from East and West (2021). He is a member of the Philippine National Philosophical Research Society, the Philosophical Association of the Philippines, and the Philippine Association for the Study of Culture, History, and Religion. He is also part of the editorial board of Philosophia: International Journal of Philosophy, where he serves as an Assistant Editor. His research interests include Philosophy of Friendship, Philosophy of Technology, Hindu Philosophy, and Filipino Philosophy.

About the Authors

Adelbert Escollada is a faculty member of the Sociology Department at Mindanao State University. He holds a Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy from Notre Dame of Marbel University and is a licensed professional teacher. He has completed the academic requirements for the Master of Education major in Educational Management at Sultan Kudarat State University and is currently pursuing a Master's degree in Philosophy at Ateneo de Davao University. A former seminarian at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Seminary in Koronadal City and St. Francis Xavier Regional Major Seminary in Davao City, his formative background continues to shape his intellectual and ethical commitments to education and public life. His teaching experience spans both formal and non-formal settings, including work as an ALS instructor and a community educator. His academic interests include post-structuralist philosophy, moral and political theory, critical pedagogy, discourse ethics, and psychoanalysis. He is particularly drawn to questions involving power, culture, education, and spirituality. He also remains actively involved in community development, serving as a lay liturgical minister, a community leader, and a participant in various social formation programs.

Karl Christianne U. Exala obtained his bachelor's degree in philosophy from Ateneo de Davao University. He is currently pursuing a master's degree in philosophy and serves as a part-time faculty member of the philosophy department at the same institution. His research interests include topics within ethics and social philosophy.

Ardione Frosvene R. Fuentes is a licensed professional teacher who is currently working as a Values Education/Christian Life Education secondary teacher at Ateneo de Davao University Junior High School (ADDU JHS). He attained his bachelor's degree in philosophy at Xavier University-Ateneo de Cagayan in 2019. In the same year, he also finished his propaedeutic and discipleship seminary formation at San Jose de Mindanao Seminary. He earned his professional education units at Rizal Memorial College, Inc. in Davao City, and passed the Licensure Exam for Professional Teachers in 2023. Now, while teaching at ADDU JHS, he is taking a Master of Arts in Philosophy at Ateneo de Davao University Graduate Studies. As a ValEd/CLE secondary teacher, he is proficient in designing the curriculum for Grade 8 students, especially in preparing competencies and capacities for values formation and moral education. He has a formative duty as a teacher to form critical students with compassion for the least, lost, and last. By doing this, he ensures that the start of moral deliberation and values recognition will flourish as early as possible in Junior High School, and hopefully it will mature in College through Ethics.

Zandee B. Jaquias is a Philosophy Instructor at the University of Science and Technology of Southern Philippines (USTP) – Claveria Campus under the Social Science Unit of the College of Arts and Sciences, teaching Ethics. He earned his Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy at Saint Peter College Seminary, Ampayon, Butuan City. He is pursuing his Master's degree in Philosophy at Ateneo de Davao University. He also earned a Church Diploma through Distance Learning at the Theological Educational Online School of St. Basil the Great, under the Belarusian Exarchate of the Russian Orthodox Church. He is a member of the Social Ethics Society. His primary field of study is Environmental Philosophy.

James Patrick B. Pabonita is a faculty member at Opol Community College in Misamis Oriental, where he teaches academic subjects, such as Ethics and The Contemporary World. He holds a Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy from Xavier University - Ateneo de Cagayan and is currently pursuing his Master of Arts in Philosophy at Ateneo de Davao University. His academic interests include critical theory, applied ethics, social and political philosophy, and the intersection of markets and morality, informed by his experience in the corporate world and as a student journalist. As an educator in a higher education institution, he integrates critical thinking and ethical reflection into his pedagogy, aiming to foster civic engagement among students and equip them with the vital and reflective capacities necessary to navigate the moral complexities of the world. His ongoing research interest focuses on exploring contemporary structural issues, both ethical and political, particularly those affecting workforce communities in the Philippines. Balancing teaching, studies, and writing, he remains committed to philosophy as a tool for social transformation. His work has been presented in academic forums, and he continues to explore the role of philosophy in addressing real-world challenges.

About the Authors

Arvin R. Burbano, M.A., is a visiting lecturer at San Pablo Seminary, Baguio City, and a PhD student at St. Louis University, Baguio City. He received his AB in Philosophy and MA in Philosophy from the same institutions, respectively. His research interests are in the areas of Philosophy of Education and Socio-Political Philosophy.

Jonathan G. Florendo, Ph.D., has been an educator for over 20 years. He is an AB and MA in Philosophy graduate of Saint Louis University, Baguio City, where he has been teaching for 20 years and currently heads the Philosophy department. He has earned a Ph.D. in Philosophy as a CHED K+12 scholar from DLSU-Manila. His research interests include the intersection of philosophy and education, culture, society, and politics in the Philippine context.

Lj Zaphan Butiong Lamboloto, Ph.D., is an assistant professor of philosophy at Silliman University, Philippines. He holds a PhD in Social Science, an MA, and an AB in Philosophy. His research interests include critical pedagogy, critical theory, social and political philosophy, and environmental sociology.

Percival Paras, Ph.D., is the Director of Academic Quality Assurance at Far Eastern University-Manila. He is the author of Academic Othering and the Problem of I-Centered Philosophy of Teaching in Oxford Journal of Philosophy of Education (2025), as well as Multicultural Education and the Politics of Recognition in the Philippines: A Critical Review (2020), and Problems of Middle Eastern Literature Taught in the Philippines: A Critical Reflection by a Local Academia (2023), from Jurnal Kemanusiaan, Universiti Teknologi, Malaysia, among many. Perci's research focuses on philosophy of teaching and learning, multicultural education, and critical theory. He is an ASEAN University Network Quality Assurance (AUN-QA) Assessor. He obtained both his Master's and Doctorate in Philosophy from De La Salle University Manila- College of Liberal Arts, with Jacques Derrida's Philosophy as his research area.

Ian Anthony Davatos, M.A., is currently taking his doctorate in philosophy at Ateneo de Manila University, where he also finished his Master of Arts in Philosophy last 2019. He has published articles in such journals as Suri, Kritike, and Philosophia (Philippines). His research interests include socio-political philosophy, ethics, and philosophy of religion.

Barada Laxmi Panda, Ph.D., is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Philosophy at Presidency University, Kolkata. She specializes in Ethics, Applied Ethics, Philosophy of Action, Philosophy of Mind, Socio-Political Philosophy, and Analytic Philosophy. She earned her PhD from the Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Bombay. She holds a B.A., M.A., and M.Phil. in Philosophy from Utkal University, Odisha, where she was awarded a Merit Scholarship for securing the First Rank in B.A. Honors. Dr. Panda has presented her research at numerous prestigious national and international conferences organized by various universities, such as Cornell University, Duke University, IIT Bombay, and the Indian Council of Philosophical Research. Her work engages with themes like conscious agency, freedom, intentionality, and rational choice. She has several scholarly publications to her credit. Notably, her co-authored paper with Ranjan K. Panda entitled "Reason, Choice and Values: An Investigation from Aristotelian Perspective" was published in the Journal of Indian Council of Philosophical Research (JICPR). Her other significant publications are "Walking Through the Aristotelian Lane: Amartya Sen on Rational Choice," Published in Comparative Philosophy, Springer; "Ethics-Oriented Business Strategy and Prioritization of Profit Over Corporate Social Responsibility" by JICPR, Springer.

Sanjit Barman, M.Phil., is a PhD Research Scholar in the Department of Philosophy at Presidency University, Kolkata. His research explores foundational issues in political philosophy, moral philosophy, and applied ethics, with a keen interest in the intersections between classical philosophical doctrines and contemporary socio-political concerns, especially in the themes of justice, identity, and public morality. He holds a B.A., M.A., and M.Phil. in Philosophy from the University of North Bengal, Siliguri, Darjeeling. He is in the final stage of submitting his PhD at Presidency University, focusing on critical engagements with the liberal and communitarian frameworks of justice. He has published a couple of papers in peer-reviewed journals. His recent papers include AI Conundrum: The Ominous Sign of Civilization? in Kanpur Philosophers; "Philosophy of Justice: A Narrative of Transformation" in Research Journal of Philosophy and

About the Authors

Social Science; and “Kant on the Universality of Moral Principles: An Analysis” in the Asian Journal of Philosophy and Religion.

Christian S. Hipolao is a faculty member of Northwestern Mindanao State College of Science and Technology, Tangub City. He teaches Ethics, Political Theory, and Social Justice. He obtained his undergraduate degree in Philosophy at Lasalle University- Ozamis. He is currently finishing his MA in Philosophy at Silliman University.

Francis Bernard Caguioa, M.A., earned a Bachelor of Arts degree, majoring in Philosophy, from St. Louis University, Baguio City. He later pursued theological studies at CICM Maryhill School of Theology in Quezon City, where he completed a 4-year General Theological Program and a Master of Arts in Religious Studies majoring in Morals. Deeply committed to social causes, he is actively involved in mental health advocacy through private counseling and Inspirational talks, and in environmental initiatives as an active member of Zero Waste Baguio Inc. He also participates in various civic organizations that promote peace and community service. His work reflects a strong dedication to ethical engagement, personal well-being, and environmental sustainability.

Roseanette G. Paler is a BS Philosophy major in Applied Ethics at Mindanao State University - Iligan Institute of Technology (MSU-IIT). A dedicated student leader, she served in various capacities, including as Public Information Officer for the Junior Philosopher’s Guild and as a committee chair for the Committee on Art Designs and Productions of the Department of Philosophy and Humanities. An aspiring peacebuilder, she's an associate member of MSU-IIT Youth Chain of Peace (MYCOP) and the Ethics and Grievance Committee of the Kataas-taasang Sanggunian ng mga Mag-aaral. Her academic work includes moderating the 4th Annual Mindanao Undergraduate Conference and presenting her undergraduate thesis on György Lukács' aesthetics at the 2025 CASS Annual Interdisciplinary Conference. She has also delivered a paper at the 4th USAPP Summit held in Tagbilaran City, Bohol. Ms. Paler is graduating with her first published journal article, forthcoming in the Social Ethics Society Journal of Applied Philosophy, Vol. 10. Her research interests span aesthetics, cultural issues in the Philippines, Filipino philosophy, bioethics, and feminism.

Arnel A. Morte, Ph.D., is an Associate Professor II at Central Mindanao University. His area of interest focuses on Social Ontology and Applied Philosophy. He has published articles in the Social Ethics Society Journal of Applied Philosophy and Scientia. He earned his Ph.D. in Philosophy from the De La Salle University, Master of Arts in Philosophy from the Ateneo de Davao University, Master of Arts in Theology from the Ignatian Institute of Religious Education Foundation and Holy Cross of Davao College, and AB in Philosophy from the Immaculate Conception Archdiocesan School and Pastor Bonus Seminary. He is the president of the newly established organization in 2024 in Bukidnon, the Philosophy Society of Bukidnon, Incorporated. He teaches GEC-18 Ethics to college students and Philosophy Subjects to AB Philosophy students, such as Logic, Philosophy of Language, Special Questions, and Philosophy of Mind.